

Welcome to Artsteps

In the final semester of the MAES programme, each student creates a Creative Component project, which represents an artistic expression of the key research findings in their thesis. This process results in a diverse, fascinating range of artworks, including paintings, sculptures, collages, photographs, films, costumes and interactive experiences. This year, the MAES students shared these unique works through a digital gallery platform called ArtSteps, which is free and simple to use. In ArtSteps, the MAES students' works are divided into thematically-cohesive rooms.

To view our students' creative efforts, please click on the links below and sign up for ArtSteps if you would like to leave comments on the projects. You can also just enter the room without signing in, and press the 'play' button at the bottom for a 'guided tour'. In some rooms, ArtSteps will display each artwork in succession, but viewers can also use the forward arrow, or click on particular artworks, to progress more quickly. Please click on your mousepad to open any virtual doors within the gallery. To learn more about any particular piece, please click directly on the artwork to read the student's Concept Statement, which provides further detail about the creative process. Please feel free to ask questions and share comments with the students on their work.

Congratulations to all our MAES students for imagining such meaningful, intriguing Creative Component projects.

- Dr Kristen Murray, Instructor, Capstone Creative Projects
